Subject: Faculty training on Android application development course.

Ref: Hon'ble Vice Chancellor approval No.32 dt: 29/11/2017

We are aware that VTU is introducing the syllabus of Mobile Application Development as an open elective from 6th Sem (even semester, January 2018). Since it has been made compulsory for all the colleges, we thought it appropriate to train faculty members of all colleges affiliated under VTU before the syllabus is officially launched.

Continuing with the effort of training faculty members from all colleges, two more batches of faculty training program on Android Application Development is planned in the month of December 2017. VTU in association with Google India Pvt. Ltd is conducting five days faculty training program on Android Application Development Foundation course. The training is designed for CSE/ISE faculty of VTU affiliated engineering colleges.

You may note that the training program is compulsory for the faculty who will be handling the subject of Mobile Application Development in their respective colleges.
