About the University

Visvesvaraya Technological University (VTU) is one of the largest Technological Universities in India with 16 years of Tradition of excellence in Engineering & Technical Education, Research and Innovations. VTU is having 202 affiliated colleges, 1 constituent college and 17 Autonomous colleges with undergraduate courses in 35 disciplines, PG program in 94 disciplines and Ph.D & M.sc(Engg.) with research programs in 592 departments, over 4 lakhs Engineering Students study in the various institutes affiliated to the University. The University has 13 Quality Improvement Programme (QIP) centers in various affiliated colleges and 16 extension centers for offering PG programs. VTU as an educational institution offering various technical courses is playing a vital role in creating job opportunities and economic development of the country.

The VTU has its operations in four regional centres situated all over Karnataka. The centres are located at Belgaum, Bangalore, Mysore and Gulbarga offering Masters degrees in Technology, Management, IT and doctoral programmes in these streams. The university is involved in extensive research in Science, Technology and Management with both funded and non-funded projects. All these research activities are undertaken by the competent, experienced and intellectual faculties on regular basis. The university regional offices possess high tech labs, infrastructure and all other facilities required for research on par with global standards.

About the PG Centre, Muddenahalli

The Centre for Post Graduate Studies is attached with VTU Regional Centre, Bangalore. It has a very strong base of teaching faculty, majority of them with doctorates in technology and management with wide exposure to industry and academics. They are often updated on teaching pedagogy, research techniques and total quality by eminent sources from academia and industry. Some of the faculty members are carrying out major research projects funded by Department of Science and Technology, Labor Department, Social Welfare Department, Labor Department and Department of Women and Child Development, Government of Karnataka.

About the Symposium

Women are considered to be the strength of the family and the nation. Women being the key prominent gender, plays multi skilled role, with the capacity and potential for the economic development. Empowerment of women economically and socially is essential as they also play a prominent role to project the status of the society. The status of Indian women has undergone considerable change. Though Indian women are far more independent and aware of their legal rights, such as right to work, equal treatment, property and maintenance, a majority of women remain unaware of these rights (age of marriage, extent of literacy, role in the family and so on). The result is that the empowerment of women in India is highly unbalanced and with huge gaps.

Women constitute to the half of the Indian population and one third of the work force, irrespective of men and women work together but still there are gender differences. Women play their roles with great responsibility in upbringing of a healthy society for this modern world, but still living in chains. This calls for women empowerment to overcome the inequalities and discrimination and at the same time empowering them economically. The Symposium tries to bridge the gap and also to highlight on the role of the women in the current changing scenario, the challenges faced by the women in the corporate world and the opportunities available for women to face and sustain the highly competitive environment.

Who can attend:

Faculty members, Academicians, Research Scholars, Interested participants for Industry, Government Organizations, NGO's and Students.
