Various personality development courses, professional writing and communicative English, Indian constitution, regional language courses are also part of the courses offered.

Academic Flexibility to choose the courses, as per the needs and interests of students, through elective subjects and pursue internships, projects,

The integration of various courses in different programs and flexibility to choose as per the student interests is one of the key aspects of VTU's multidisciplinary approach.

For example: Computer Science with Business Analytics: This combination allows students to leverage their technical knowledge in computer science with a deep understanding of business analytics, enabling them to make informed decisions and solve complex problems in various industries. Students can learn how to design and build efficient systems, develop applications, and solve computational problems. This technical expertise is invaluable in today's technology-driven landscape.

VTU has adopted World-Class knowledge delivery methodology by extensively using ICT tools. The consortium of e-resources, e-Learning and smart laboratories is a testimony to this. This approach of multidisciplinary curricula and usage of digital initiatives to pursue the courses, guarantees the technical and professional excellence of the students at the time of completion of programs enrolled.

17.Academic bank of credits (ABC):

The Academic Bank of Credits (ABC), is a national-level facility which will promote the flexibility of the curriculum framework and interdisciplinary/multidisciplinary academic mobility of students across the HEIs in the country with appropriate "credit transfer" mechanism.

VTU offers following ABC points:

1. Choice based Credit System: VTU has implemented CBCS whose credits will be added to the ABC of each student on completion of the course.

2.6 - Student Performance and Learning Outcomes

2.6.1 - The institution has stated learning outcomes (generic and programme specific)/graduate attributes which are integrated into the assessment process and widely publicized through the website and other documents

The University emphasizes clearly defined learning outcomes and graduate attributes, ensuring effective communication to all stakeholders through various mechanisms:

1. Syllabi Availability: Syllabi are readily accessible in departments for students and faculty, facilitating reference. Learning outcomes are discussed with students at the beginning of each topic and reaffirmed by faculty at its conclusion.

2. Revised Bloom's Taxonomy: Learning outcomes, structured using Revised Bloom's Taxonomy, are integrated into lesson plans, delineating the expected knowledge, skills, and competencies. Program Outcomes (POs), Program Specific Outcomes (PSOs), and Course Outcomes (COs) are prominently displayed on the university website alongside the curriculum, accessible to all stakeholders.

3. Tutorial Meetings: Students are briefed on POs, PSOs, COs, and expected competencies during tutorial meetings, ensuring their awareness and alignment with learning objectives.

4. Departmental Displays: Departments and laboratories prominently display POs, PSOs, along with the departmental and institutional vision and mission, fostering a pervasive understanding of educational objectives.

Through these strategies, the university ensures transparency, alignment, and engagement among stakeholders, fostering a conducive learning environment that meets the intended educational outcomes.

File Description	Documents

2.6.2 - Attainment of Programme outcomes, Programme specific outcomes and course outcomes are evaluated by the institution during the year

VTU has embraced outcome-based education (OBE) to ensure the achievement of course outcomes (COs) and program outcomes (POs). Departments employ both direct and indirect assessment methods to measure attainment:

Direct Assessment Tools:

- Internal tests, group discussions, laboratory performances, student projects, assignments, semester tests, and end-term theory results are utilized, with each assessment aligned with Bloom's taxonomy levels and assigned marks correlated with the COs they represent. COs are mapped to POs to calculate direct attainment.

Indirect Assessment Methods:

- Surveys targeting students, teachers, parents, alumni, and employers assess POs attainment.

In alignment with the NEP 2020, the curriculum incorporates skills, curricular, and co-curricular activities, sports, and social work, with plans to include their attainments in future evaluations.

Feedback mechanisms by Boards of Studies aim to enhance curricula and teaching-learning processes within the OBE framework. Benchmarking is proposed based on previous academic performance and students' general proficiency levels to calculate attainments accurately. These strategies ensure rigorous evaluation and continuous improvement of educational outcomes.

3.5 - Consultancy

3.5.1 - Institution has a policy on consultancy including revenue sharing between the institution and the individual and encourages its faculty to undertake consultancy

VTU's consultancy policy actively encourages faculty engagement and provides a structured framework for revenue sharing, outlining general rules, consultancy scope, and standard terms and conditions. Consultancy services cater to a diverse range of sectors, including industries, government departments, and international organizations. These services encompass feasibility studies, technological assessments, design evaluations, energy and environmental audits, product development, software creation, troubleshooting, and retrofitting exercises. In instances where consultancy is sought from socially relevant organizations, faculty and staff voluntarily provide their expertise without charging fees, supported by the university through provisions such as free transport and financial aid.

Furthermore, VTU has developed a comprehensive suite of software to streamline both academic and administrative functions within the university. In line with promoting academic collaboration, consultancy services for these software solutions are extended to other universities, such as Bangalore University, at nominal charges.

Regarding revenue sharing, VTU employs a structured model delineated as follows:

- For personal consultancy, the university retains 20% of the revenue, while faculty members receive 80%.
- Testing projects yield a 40% share for the university and a 60% share for the faculty.
- Corporate training initiatives result in a 20% share for the university and an 80% share for the faculty.

This revenue-sharing model aims to incentivize faculty involvement in consultancy endeavors while ensuring equitable distribution of proceeds between the university and individual consultants.

2.6.2 - Attainment of Programme outcomes, Programme specific outcomes and course outcomes are evaluated by the institution during the year

VTU has embraced outcome-based education (OBE) to ensure the achievement of course outcomes (COs) and program outcomes (POs). Departments employ both direct and indirect assessment methods to measure attainment:

Direct Assessment Tools:

- Internal tests, group discussions, laboratory performances, student projects, assignments, semester tests, and end-term theory results are utilized, with each assessment aligned with Bloom's taxonomy levels and assigned marks correlated with the COs they represent.

COs are mapped to POs to calculate direct attainment.

Indirect Assessment Methods:

- Surveys targeting students, teachers, parents, alumni, and employers assess POs attainment.

In alignment with the NEP 2020, the curriculum incorporates skills, curricular, and co-curricular activities, sports, and social work, with plans to include their attainments in future evaluations.

Feedback mechanisms by Boards of Studies aim to enhance curricula and teaching-learning processes within the OBE framework. Benchmarking is proposed based on previous academic performance and students' general proficiency levels to calculate attainments accurately. These strategies ensure rigorous evaluation and continuous improvement of educational outcomes.

RESEARCH, INNOVATIONS AND EXTENSION

3.1 - Promotion of Research and Facilities

3.1.1 - The institution Research facilities are frequently updated and there is well defined policy for promotion of research which is uploaded on the institutional website and implemented

VTU, as a frontrunner in embracing the National Education Policy 2020, is undergoing a significant transformation from a teaching-centric to a teaching/research-centric institution. This shift is evident in the introduction of the B.Sc. (Hons) program, designed to be research-intensive, aligning with the university's vision.

Investments in infrastructure underscore VTU's commitment to research excellence. With over 2 Crores spent on laboratory upgrades and acquisitions of books and journals exceeding 20 Crores, the university ensures state-of-the-art facilities and comprehensive resources for scholars.

A proactive approach to staying abreast of global R&D is evident in VTU's policy framework. By regularly updating laboratory facilities, library collections, and e-resources based on international advancements, the university fosters an environment conducive to cutting-edge research.

VTU's transparent research policy, accessible via its website, outlines various initiatives, including the Research Grant Scheme (RGS), providing faculty members with seed funding for their research endeavors. Moreover, the encouragement of exchange programs and collaborations at individual, departmental, and institutional levels further enhances research opportunities and academic partnerships.

In essence, VTU's strategic initiatives underscore its commitment to fostering a vibrant research ecosystem, empowering faculty members, and nurturing innovation in line with the objectives of the National Education Policy 2020.

3.3 - Innovation Ecosystem

3.3.1 - Institution has created an eco-system for innovations including Incubation centre and other initiatives for creation and transfer of knowledge

VTU has embraced the Ministry of Education's National Innovation and Startup Policy 2019 to foster entrepreneurship among students and faculty. Existing incubations like MySmartShala, TURTU, Brightbee, and DattamshLab receive support in the form of free space, furniture, and internet connectivity, nurturing a conducive environment for innovation on campus.

To further cultivate an entrepreneurial spirit, VTU has introduced a new management program titled "Innovation, Entrepreneurship, and Venture Development," offering open electives accessible to engineering graduates. Faculty members are encouraged to engage with incubation centers as experts, while students are provided opportunities for internships, fostering hands-on learning experiences.

VTU's initiatives extend beyond entrepreneurship to knowledge creation and transfer. Through the UNNAT BHARAT ABHIYAN, the university educates farmers in five adopted villages on efficient water management techniques, promoting sustainability practices like drip irrigation and rainwater harvesting.

The establishment of an e-learning center underscores VTU's commitment to digital education, facilitating the development of e-content by academic and industry experts across various disciplines.

Furthermore, VTU's publication unit, Prasaraanga, publishes technical books in Kannada, ensuring the transfer of technical knowledge to a broader audience. This initiative enhances accessibility and promotes regional language proficiency in technical fields, contributing to the democratization of knowledge dissemination.

VTU's holistic approach, encompassing entrepreneurship, knowledge creation, and community engagement, reflects its commitment to fostering innovation and societal development.

3.5 - Consultancy

3.5.1 - Institution has a policy on consultancy including revenue sharing between the institution and the individual and encourages its faculty to undertake consultancy

VTU's consultancy policy actively encourages faculty engagement and provides a structured framework for revenue sharing, outlining general rules, consultancy scope, and standard terms and conditions. Consultancy services cater to a diverse range of sectors, including industries, government departments, and international organizations. These services encompass feasibility studies, technological assessments, design evaluations, energy and environmental audits, product development, software creation, troubleshooting, and retrofitting exercises. In instances where consultancy is sought from socially relevant organizations, faculty and staff voluntarily provide their expertise without charging fees, supported by the university through provisions such as free transport and financial aid.

Furthermore, VTU has developed a comprehensive suite of software to streamline both academic and administrative functions within the university. In line with promoting academic collaboration, consultancy services for these software solutions are extended to other universities, such as Bangalore University, at nominal charges.

Regarding revenue sharing, VTU employs a structured model delineated as follows:

- For personal consultancy, the university retains 20% of the revenue, while faculty members receive 80%.
- Testing projects yield a 40% share for the university and a 60% share for the faculty.

- Corporate training initiatives result in a 20% share for the university and an 80% share for the faculty.

This revenue-sharing model aims to incentivize faculty involvement in consultancy endeavors while ensuring equitable distribution of proceeds between the university and individual consultants.
