Hon'ble Vice-Chancellor's approval Dated: 16.01.2024

The FAIR CONDITIONING Foundation, in association with the University, is organizing Training workshops for the faculty of Architecture. The first of the Teacher Training workshop series from 26th February to 1st March 2024 for faculty teaching Architecture courses across VTU-affiliated colleges of Karnataka. This is scheduled to be held in a physical setup at Regional Office VTU Bengaluru. The workshop is intended to be quite immersive and interactive supported by hands-on tools and activity-based learning.

The key focus and take away for participants are:

- ❖ Understanding and absorbing the content and pedagogical changes in the curriculum.
- ❖ Reimagining and reframing the design studios in the context of the climate crisis and social injustice.
- ❖ Building empathy among students in the context of the climate crisis and social injustice.
- ❖ Refreshing technical skills related to Building physics, energy-efficient building design, sustainable cooling technologies, bioclimatic design/passive design interventions for new buildings as well as retrofitting.
- ❖ Learning sustainable cooling technologies and passive design principles through demonstration of and hands-on operation of the physical teaching models, as well as learning to integrate them in building designs using Smart Energy software.
- ❖ Sensitization of the issue of heat stress and exploring and expanding the potential and responsibility of architecture enabling thermal comfort in Informal settlements.
- ❖ Co-creating horizontally and vertically integrated sustainable design approaches and deliberately interconnected lesson plans for courses.

The workshop will accommodate around 30 professors. Kindly register using this link VTU Teacher Training Workshop I \(google.com\) No registration fee is involved.
