

Alumni Interaction

An alumni interaction session was conducted on 10th July 2023, where former students engaged with current students to share insights on job roles in VLSI technology. The alumni discussed the evolving industry trends, required skill sets, and career opportunities in the VLSI domain. They also provided valuable career guidance, offering tips on resume building, interview preparation, and the importance of internships and certifications. The session was highly informative and motivated students to explore career paths in the semiconductor and electronics industry.
